Firefighters Continue to Battle the Round Valley Wildfire

Lakeview, Ore - The Round Valley wildfire burning southeast of Bonanza, Oregon, is now estimated to be 70% contained. This fire is burning on land administered by the Bureau of Land Management (BLM) and is approximately 165 acres in size. Fire crews and engines have initiated the mop-up process. All aircraft have been demobilized from the fire with the exception of a Type II helicopter. The fire has not threatened any structures and no evacuations have been ordered. Lightning has been determined to be the cause of the fire. The BLM, U.S. Forest Service (FS), U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (FWS) and Oregon Department of Forestry (ODF) all have resources on scene.

For regular updates on the status of the Round Valley wildfire, please call the South Central Oregon Fire Management Partnership hotline at (541) 947-6223.

Since August 13, six additional fires have been confirmed in south-central Oregon. All were on ODF-protected lands and determined to be three acres or less in size.

A slight chance of thunderstorms has been forecasted for late this afternoon. A Fire Weather Watch is in effect for Tuesday morning through Tuesday evening for lightning with insufficient moisture. Fire danger throughout south-central Oregon remains at the extreme level. Agency officials ask everyone to comply with public use restrictions in effect for the lands they are recreating on.

For more information about public use restrictions or how you can prevent wildfires, contact your local BLM, ODF, FS, FWS or U.S. National Park Service office, or visit these websites:

Chiloquin Community Calendars

Friends of the Chiloquin Library put out the Chiloquin Community Calendar each year. It is one of their major fund raisers. If you haven't seen the calendar, it has a picture by one of the elementary students that is the winner of our art contest in the spring. It has business ads from local businesses, and on each day of each month there are birthdays, anniversaries, memorials and meeting notices.

On the 2011 calendar, the picture will be artwork by 6th grader Georgene Tenorio. If anyone is interested in putting their family birthdays, anniversaries or memorials on the calendar it is only 50¢ per listing. We have a limited capacity for business ads but still have some room. It is a great way to advertise.

If you would like to ask about an ad, put something on the calendar or order a calendar (they make great Christmas gifts and only cost $4.50 including shipping) please call the library at 783-3315 and leave your name and number to have a member of the calendar committee contact you. You can also sign up to be contacted at the library. If you ordered a calendar or put listings on the calendar last year, you will automatically be contacted by one of the calendar committee persons.

Reminder:

There is time before we go to press with the Community Calendar to sign up for birthdays, anniversaries or memorials. It is only 50¢ for each listing. There is still limited ad space. If you need more information, call Eleanor Stone at 783-2551 or the library at 783-3315

Campanulas

I love flowers from the genus Campanula. The common name for these flowers always has ‘bell’ in it somewhere—Scottish Bluebells, Clustered Bellflowers, Canterbury Bells—and they are usually blue, though they do also come in white and occasionally, pink. As you might guess, the flowers are bell shaped, and many of the species are hardy in our area.

There are over 300 species of Campanula, and many sub-species, native to the whole Northern Hemisphere, but with the most diversity in the Mediterranean region. They include annuals, biennials and perennials and vary from dwarf alpine gems a mere two inches tall, to large woodland species growing six feet tall. Some form very neat mounds in the garden, while others are rampant spreaders. You will find descriptions and photographs of several varieties on the Bluestone Perennials website at <http://bit.ly/cDIkcp>

Campanula carpatica 'Blue Clips'
(Carpathian Bellflower)

Campanula punctata
(Spotted Bellflower)

Campanula trogerae
(Turkish Bellflower)

Since they originate in so many diverse regions, the growing conditions vary considerably, but I have found that in my Chiloquin garden I can grow many different bellflowers by giving them regular water and some sun. It's also fortunate that they like alkaline soil, because that is what I have. At present these are doing well for me here but I'm always on the lookout for a new bellflower.

Campanula glomerata (Clustered Bellflower), a tall clumping variety with clusters of deep blue-violet bells.

Campanula 'Kent Belle' (a hybrid variety), a tall clumping variety with dark blue bells.

Campanula persicifolia (Peachleaf Bellflower) a tall clumping variety with pale blue bells.

Campanula medium (Canterbury Bells) a tall biennial with large bells of blue, pink or white.

Campanula trogerae (Turkish Bellflower), a short mounding variety with large white bells.

Campanula cochleariifolia 'Bavarian Blue' (Fairy Thimbles), a short, mounding variety with small blue bells.

Campanula carpatica 'Blue Clips' (Carpathian Bellflower), a short mounding variety with large blue bells.

Campanula punctata (Spotted Bellflower), a short rapidly spreading variety with pale reddish-pink bells.

Artist of the Month at the Two Rivers Gallery

I started woodturning about ten years ago while we were living in Fredericksburg, Texas. I joined the Hill Country Turners in Kerrville, TX, bought a Jet Mini lathe and started turning with the help of some very good turners in the club and some good books on woodturning and design. I joined the American Association of Woodturners (AAW) which is a great organization. I attended three annual seminars and demonstrations put on by the Southwestern Association of Turners (SWAT) in Texas and I've attended two annual AAW conventions. I've taken five day workshops with Richard Raffan, a well known Australian woodturner and writer and with Stewart Batty, a young British turner. Since moving back to Oregon I've joined the Southern Oregon Turners in Grants Pass and the Northwest Woodturners in Portland.

I practiced Pediatrics in Portland for 26 years and didn't seem to find much time for hobbies but I did dabble in other art forms. I spent six years in the Public Health Service with the Division of Indian Health in Southeastern Alaska and the Crow and Navajo Reservations where I developed an interest in Native American Art and I frequently use some of their designs and decorations in my work.

I primarily turn bowls and platters but some hollow forms. I use mostly Madrone Burl, Maple Burl and Myrtle Burl but also a number of other woods. My pieces are all one of a kind and I rarely repeat a design. You learn to take what the wood gives you. That's what makes it so interesting!

Badger Run Wildlife Rehab

Volunteer Registration and Training day is Sunday, August 22 at 3 pm. We are a not-for-profit wildlife rehab facility, taking in injured or orphaned wildlife and helping them return to the wild. We also give about 40 education programs each year to schools, camps, groups and at festivals and fairs. Volunteers are needed for a WIDE variety of tasks, including: phone call monitoring and routing, food procurement and preparation, animal care, transportation, habitat/perch/enclosure construction, landscaping, fundraising, giving presentations, and a million other daily duties involved in the care and treatment of these beautiful animals.

If interested, please email Liz Diver at info@badgerrun.org or call 541-891-2052. (Note: Volunteers must be at least 16 years of age to handle wildlife, and all volunteers must sign a waiver.) The Volunteer Training will take place at Badger Run Wildlife Rehab, 15993 Homestead Lane in Keno. DIRECTIONS from KF: Go West on Highway 66 toward Keno, but before the town of Keno, go straight on Clover Creek. Go to the first paved road on your right, and turn right on McLaughlin. Go to the end and turn right on Big Buck. Take your first right on Homestead, and we are the first driveway on the left. You will see a somewhat "A" frame cedar sided house to the right of the driveway, and a smaller building to the left of the drive. We will meet in that smaller building. Extra parking: Off the driveway to the left is a plowed drive to a vacant area of the lot. Thank you and we'll see you there!

This year's Keno Community Days Event promises to be a fun one! The team is hosting the event for two days this year beginning Saturday, September 18. Along with food, we have reserved the National Guard's climbing wall and a dunk tank for the older kids, games for the small children, plenty of music for everyone, and of course, we will have our own community vendors again.

On Sunday, September 19 we will be co-hosting an "America, Bless God" event with Pastors Don and Joy McCloud of Tulelake Assemblies of God Church. This event is similar to an old-time tent revival meeting and features local musical groups such as Jai Callahan, The Kirby's, The Callahan's, and an open mic time for the community.

If you would like to donate to this year's event, please send it to Keno Community Action Organization (KCAO), PO Box 41, Keno, OR 97627.

Chiloquin Branch Library - The library has many ways to get involved and many fun ways to contribute to your local community. Some opportunities:

1. Storytime: If you would like to read two or three stories to a small group or preschoolers, and lead them in a simple craft or activity, the library staff can use your help. Story time is at 1:30 PM on Thursday afternoons during the school year.
2. Summer Reading Program: There are many opportunities during the summer to help out with this very worthwhile program.
3. Honor collections: these are racks of paperback books, magazines and audiovisual materials that patrons may check out without a library card. By offering these collections, more people in the community can be reached and a greater diversity of materials can be made available without incurring the costs of cataloging and processing items for the general collections. The staff would like to have some help in keeping these racks orderly, attractive and relevant. Check with the librarian for information on how to “adopt a rack”.
4. Help with sorting donations.
5. Go through Books for Sale section and tidy it once a month or so.

Stop in at the library and see what they need or give them a call at 783-3315.

Chiloquin Visions in Progress (CVIP)

CVIP operates the Chiloquin Community Center and the Chiloquin Learns After School program, and is the contact point for the Chiloquin Area Community Resource Committees and their projects. We have a volunteer list in the office where you can sign up to be available for many different “jobs” and projects. Call 783-7780 between 10 AM and 2 PM weekdays for further information.
